[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 8.

Convention of Southern Unionists.

PHILADELPHIA Sept 6—Senator Cresswell then read the address as follows:

The representatives of eight millions of American citizens appeal for protection and justice to their friends and brothers in the States that have been spared the cruelties of rebellion and the direct horrors of civil war Here on the spot where freedom was proffered and pledged by the fathers of the Republic we implore your help against a reorganized oppression, whose sole object is to remit the control of our destinies to the contrivers of the rebellion after they have been vanquished in honorable battle, thus at once to punish us for our devotion to our country and to entrench themselves in the official fortifications of the Government Others have related the brilliant story of our wrongs from reading and observation. We come before you as unwilling witnesses and speak from personal knowledge of our sad experience If you fail us we are more utterly deserted and betrayed than if the contest had been decided against us for in that case even victorious slavery would have found profit in the speedy conciliation among those who had been among its bravest foes. Unexpected perfidy in the highest place of the Government accidentally filled by one who adds cruelty to ingratitude, and forgives the guilty as he proscribes the innocent has stimulated the almost extinguished vengeance of the beaten conspirators, and now the rebels who offered to yield everything to save their own lives are asking to consign us to bloody graves. Where we expected a benefactor we find a persecutor Having lost our champion we return to you who can unmake Presidents and punish traitors Our last hope under God is in the unity and firmness of the States that elected Abraham Lincoln and defeated Jeff Davis. The best statement of our case is the appalling yet unconscious confession of Andrew Johnson who in savage hatred of his own record proclaims his purpose to clothe four millions of traitors with power to impoverish and degrade eight millions of loyal men. Our wrongs bear alike on all races until we are wholly received. There is neither peace for you nor prosperity for us We cannot better define at once our wrongs and our wants than by declaring that since Johnson affiliated with the late slave-holders and our constant enemies a hand has been laid heavily upon us in the South. History, against the judgment of the President, will declare that after rejecting his own remedies for restoring the Union, he has resolved upon restoring the weapons of traitors to their use to beat down patriots that after declaring that none but the loyal should govern the reconstructed South, he has practiced upon the maxim that none but traitors should rule, that while in the North he has removed conscientious men from office, and filled many of the vacancies with the sympathizers with treason in the South he has removed the proved and true patriots, and released the equally proved and convicted traitors, that after brave men who had fought for the old flag have been nominated for positions, their names have been recalled and avowed rebels substituted, that every original Unionist in the South, who stands fast to Andrew Johnson's covenants from 1861 to 1865 has been ostracised, that he has corrupted the local courts by offering premiums for the defiance of the laws of Congress, and by openly discouraging the observance of oaths against treason, that while he has refused to punish one single conspirator, though thousands have merited the penalty of death, more than a thousand of devoted Union citizens have been murdered in cold blood since the surrender of Lee, and in no case have their assassins been brought to judgment that he has pardoned some of the first of the rebel enemies of the South including some who have taken human life and who, under circumstances of unparalleled atrocity which while denouncing and fettering the operations of the Freedmen's Bureau with a knowledge of a falsehood has charged that the black men are rebellious, and has concealed the fact that more whites than blacks have been protected and fed by that noble organization, that while declaring the Bureau was corruptibly managed and expensive to the government, he has connived at a system of prodigacy in the use of public patronage and money wholly without parallel, save when the traitors bankrupted the treasury and sought to disorganize and scatter the army and navy to make it easy to capture the government, that while declaring against the injustice of leaving eleven States unrepresented, he has refused to sanction the liberal plan of Congress because it recognizes the loyal majority and refuses to perpetuate the power of a minority; that in every State in the South his policy has been fraught with most deplorable consequences, that it has emboldened the returned rebels to threaten civil war in Maryland, Missouri, West Virginia and Tennessee, unless patriots who saved and sealed these States to the old flag submit to their rule, that it has high State officials elected by Union men and to enforce laws against returned rebels, and made them mere instruments of the authorities of rebellion; that it has changed a new alienation between the sections, and by emigration to the South, has erected a barrier against free and friendly intercourse with the North and West, that it has allowed rebel soldiers to persecute the teachers of colored schools and burn the churches of freedmen.

That a system so barbarous should have culminated in the frightful riots at Memphis and the massacre at New Orleans was as natural as that bloody war should follow from the teachings of John C. Calhoun and Jeff. Davis Andrew Johnson is responsible for all these cruelties, and as he provoked so he justifies and applauds them Sending his agents and emissaries into this refined and patriotic metropolis to insist upon making his reckless policy a test among a Christian people, he forgot that the protection extended to the 14th of August Convention was not only denied the free party of New Orleans on the 30th of July when assembled to discuss how best to protect themselves, but denied against the slaughter of hundreds of innocent men No page in the record of his recent outrages upon human justice and constitutional law is more dark than that which tells how he assisted in the preparation for that awful carnage, and not only refusing to punish but telling to throw the guilty ibility on the ting and innocent The infuriated tyrant who stood ready to crush his own people in Tennessee when they were struggling to maintain a government erected by hi against his and other traitorous persecutions, was even more eager to illustrate his savage policy by clothing with most despotic power the rioters of New Orleans. Notwithstanding this heartless desertion and persecution by Andrew Johnson the States of Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware, imbued with the democratic republican principles which the fathers of the Republic designed for America determined to crush the enemies of free constitutional government, and by the F g of God these States will soon range themselves in line with the former free States and illustrate the wisdom and beneficence of the great charter of liberty by their increasing population wealth and prosperity In the remaining ten States the seed of oligarchy, planted in the Constitution by its slave-holding fathers have grown to a monstrous power, whose recognition from the framers of that instrument enabled these States, entrenched behind the doctrine of States rights and sheltered by the claim of a constitutional obligation, to maintain slavery in the States and to present to the Government the alternative of an oligarchy with slavery or a republican government without slavery A forbearing Government, bowing to a supposed necessity, acquiesced in the former alternative. The hand of the Government was stayed for eighty years. The principles of constitutional liberty languished for want of Government support. Oligarchy matured its power with subtlest designs Its history for eighty years is replete with unparalleled injuries and usurpations. It developed only the agricultural localities geographically distinct from the free labor localities and tilled less than one-third of the whole with African slaves. It held four millions of human beings as chattels, yet made them the basis of unjust power for themselves in the State Governments To maintain slavery it excluded free white labor from the richest lands, forced them to remain inactive or on the mineral lands or lumber localities embracing two-thirds of the South, simply because those localities were agriculturally too poor for slave labor The people who were condemned to agriculture in these unfavorable localities were consigned to unwilling ignorance and poverty by denying them capital and strangling enterprise. The oligarchy repelled the capital, energy and skill of the free States from various localities by unmitigated intolerance, thus guarding the approaches to their slave domain against democracy Its statute book groaned under the despotic laws against unlawful and insurrectionary assemblies It attacked the constitutional guarantees of the right to peaceably assemble and petition for the redress of grievances. It proscribed literature as incendiary; it denied the constitutional guarantees of freedom and a free press. It deprived citizens of the other States of their privileges and immunities in the States an injury and usurpation alike unjust to northern citizens and destructive of the best interests of the States themselves. Alarmed at the progress of Democracy in the face of every discouragement, at last it sought immunity by secession and war The heart sickens with the contemplation of the four years that followed. Forced loans, impressments, conscriptions with bloody hands of aged men who had long ago laid aside the implements of labor, and who had been summoned to the field to support their children and grandchildren, who were reduced to the verge of starvation, of the slaughter of noble youths, of physical manhood forced into war against those with whom they were identified by every interest Long months of incarceration in rebel bastiles, far from homes and hearth stones, are but a part of the long catalogue The States North and South defeated them. They lost—what did they lose? The cause of the oligarchy? They lost African slavery by name only As soon as the tocsin of war ceased—as soon as the clang of arms was hushed, they raised the cry of immediate admission, and commenced to organize under new forms a system to continue their unbridled sway They sought control of all local and State organizations The federal executive readily seduced, easily yielded and the monster aided by his disregard of the Constitution and laws by his merciless proscription of true democracy and by all the appliances of despotic power now enters the lists in the loyal North and seeks to wring from freemen an indorsement of its wicked design Every foul agency is at work to accomplish this result Professing to assent to the abolition of slavery they are trying to regain their detested power by acts against pretended vagrants They know that any form of servitude will answer their purpose They pronounce the four years of war a brilliant sword scene in the great revolutionary drama Rebel sentiment holds high carnival and profiting by the example of the President's platform holds out the continuing of slavery against loyal will, denounces all loyal restraint and assails with the tongue of malignant slander, the chosen representatives of the people To still the voice of liberty dangerous alone to tyrants midnight conflagrations and assassinations were called to aid the reign of terror throughout the country making loyalty stand silent in the presence of treason, or whisper low Strong men hesitate openly to speak for liberty, and decline to attend the Convention at Philadelphia for fear of destruction, but all southern men are not yet awed into submission to treason and we have assembled from all those States determined that liberty when endangered shall find a mouth-piece, and that the government of the people by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth We are here to consult together how best to provide for a union of truly republican States to seek to re-unite the thirty-six stars on the old flag We are here to see that ten of these stars, opaque bodies vailing their ineffectual fires beneath the gloom and darkness of oligarchical tyranny and oppression, are made to be brilliant stars, emblems of constitutional liberty, glowing orbs sparkling with the life-giving principles of the model republic, fitting ornaments of the banner of freedom Our first and only hope is in the unity and fortitude of the loyal people of America in support and vindication of the Thirty ninth Congress and the election of a controlling Union majority in the Fortieth Congress. While the new amendment to the Constitution offers the most liberal conditions to the authors of the rebellion and does not come to the measure of our expectations, we believe its ratification would be the commencement of a complete and lasting protection to all our people and therefore we accept it as the best remedy and appeal to our brothers and friends in the North and the West to make it their watchword in the coming election. The tokens are auspicious of overwhelming success. However little the verdict of the ballot box may effect the reckless man in the Presidential chair, we cannot doubt that the traitors and their sympathizers will accept that verdict as the surest indication that the mighty power which crushed the rebellion is still Titanic, and that those who attempt to deny it will do so at the cost of their own destruction Our confidence in an overruling Providence of God prompts the prediction and intensifies the belief that when this warning is sufficiently taught to these misguided people the liberated sons of the South will be proffered those rights and franchises which may be necessary to adjust and settle this mighty controversy in a spirit of the most enlarged and Christian philanthropy

After the reading of the address, John Minor Botts of Virginia rose and said: The very able and lucid address which has been read meets with my cordial approval. There is but one line in it to which I can object, which though it does not impair its force may be liable to misrepresentation I regard it as one of the most formidable indictments ever found against any man in this country. (Great applause) The most formidable judgment ever brought by any grand jury of this country. (Renewed applause and cheers.) Its severity consists in its truth. (Applause.) I have simply risen for the purpose of moving its unanimous adoption by the Convention. (Applause) In doing that I desire to point out the line to which I had made objection and which I would prefer to see omitted It is this "That the Southern States have proscribed Democratic literature as incendiary" In my opinion the contrary is true. The only literature they have tolerated is Democratic literature (Laughter and cries of "strike it out.") I confess that I do not understand why this was put there. I hope there will be no objection on the part of any member of the Convention to striking out that single line and adopting the balance of the address. I move the adoption of the address Considerable confusion ensued in consequence of an attempt by Tucker and Sherwood to open debate. A lengthy substitute, offered by the latter, was voted down McKellop of Maryland, called for the reading of a communication from the Republican State Convention of Kansas congratulating the Convention on the favorable auspices under which it was bled, and also a similar communication from the State of Michigan Brownson, of Missouri, in behalf of the committee appointed to visit the tomb of President Lincoln, reported a programme It includes visits to New Jersey, New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, Ohio and Illinois arriving in Chicago October 1st A delegate from Louisiana "I move that the name of Fred. Douglass" [Hisses and cries of "no, no"] Mr President, I insist upon motion [Hisses and a call for the previous question on it] Gen Speed, chairman, said the chair will not put your motion, because it is out of order, as the committee is to consist of delegates to the Southern Convention. Douglass is not a delegate to this Convention [Applause] A delegate renewed the motion to adjourn till to-morrow at 10 o'clock. After discussion the Convention adjourned till six P M The members were then addressed by Miss Anna Dickinson. Only about forty delegates were present. At the evening session, motions to adjourn were debated. Governor Brownlow withdrew his motion to adjourn, sine die, and before doing so, he said he would make an explanation. He had not made the motion at the request of the Maryland delegates It had been said that Brownlow was afraid of negro suffrage He never had held a doubtful position on any question. He would rather be elected to an office by loyal negroes than disloyal whites. He would rather associate with loyal negroes in private life than white rebels He would rather be buried in a negro grave-yard than in a rebel grave-yard, and if he had to go to hell or heaven after death, he would rather go with negroes than with rebels. He withdrew his motion to adjourn sine die Governor Boreman, of West Virginia, said it was understood in his State that no other issue than that between Congress and the President was to be made in this Convention. He said that if this Convention adopted the dogma of negro suffrage, the Republican party was gone, and gone forever [Cries of "no, no."] He knew the temper of his people. He hoped the Convention would adjourn, and if the non-reconstructed States desired to have a Convention afterward, they could do so

Gov Hamilton of Texas made a strong appeal against adjournment, reminding delegates from the border States that their admission was only a matter of courtesy, and charging that that courtesy was now being badly used. He charged also that an idea which the Marylanders had was the desire to avoid responsibility for the principle of impartial suffrage which the Gulf States desired to incorporate in their address. Finally, after considerable debate, a compromise was arrived at, which was, that the committee on reconstructed States should to-morrow report their platform and address, that the delegates from those States alone should discuss or vote upon them, and that such platform and address should be incorporated and published with the regular proceedings. This understanding having been arrived at, the Convention at 8 P M. adjourned till ten o'clock to-morrow It is understood that Maryland and other Border States will take no further part in the proceedings The delegate from Arkansas, Gen Roger, also retired on the same ground.

In the engagements the troops at Laramie had with the savages the former were obliged to beat a hasty retreat back to the garrison, losing forty men. On the Smoky Hill route they have stopped the stages and given them seven days to take all their stock off the road. Gen Hancock has furnished Major-Gen Cooke with an escort to visit the Pawnees and Omahas for indemnity

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8—Dates from Arizona to August 30th. The election for delegate to Congress was to take place last week The candidates are Chas D Poston and Coles Bashford The Governor had apportioned members of the Legislature on basis of the late census. The country in the neighborhood of La Paz is flooded for a distance of forty miles. A Prescott letter gives a detailed account of a fight lately reported in which 33 Indians were killed It seems the Indians belonged to a friendly tribe, and demanded toll of teamsters passing over the road from La Paz. This being refused a scuffle ensued. The teamsters were joined by about one dozen soldiers when a general fight took place resulting in the death of 33 Indians, who had not brought their bows and arrows but who were said to have had knives concealed about their persons The Indians intimated that the Superintendent of Indian Affairs authorized them to collect the tolls

The steamer Yosemite was discovered to be on fire at 4½ o'clock this morning while lying at her berth at Broadway wharf She had brought down from Sacramento a large amount of grain, etc., which had been safely discharged on the dock. All hands therefore were fortunately up when the fire was first seen The alarm was given promptly, and water from the wharf pipes turned on. The steamer was, however so full of smoke that the precise locality of the fire could not be determined, so that the flames spread pretty well through the fire room. The deck being free from freight a large number of holes were cut in it through which the flames spread, threatening the destruction of the steamer, until a large supply of water could be brought to bear on them The fire was extinguished after pretty thoroughly burning the inside of the fire room the deck beams being so badly charred that they as well as the deck will have to be replaced, which will probably cost $1,500 and take ten days time At one time the flames threatened to get beyond control, and as a measure of safety the Stockton steamer Julia was hauled out of her berth at the wharf into the stream. The water tight bulkhead between the fire room and the steerage cabin forward, also prevented the fire from spreading. The steamer Julia will take the place of the Yosemite to-day The steamer Capital, which goes up to Sacramento to-morrow morning will take her place in the line for the present.

Coroner Harris held an inquest on the body of W S Wheeler, yesterday afternoon, when the jury brought in a verdict finding that the deceased was a native of the Isle of Man, and that he came to his death by taking morphine administered by himself.

In the case of McDougall vs. Maguire, for assault and battery, and a cross action of Maguire vs. McDougall, for libel, the jury brought in a verdict for McDougall, fixing his damages for the assault and battery at $310, and awarded Maguire $300 damages for the publication of the libel, thus leaving the damage amounting to a verdict for all the damages in favor of McDougall Under rules established in the District Courts, the plaintiff pays the costs where the verdict does not exceed $300, therefore the costs of the suit, amounting to over $100, will fall upon McDougall.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Our Olympia correspondent writes us

Mr. Geo. Reynolds, formerly a compositor in the Arena office at Salem, and latterly one of the Johnson Club of Olympia, has purchased the Seattle printing office of Ike Hall & Co., and will hereafter print a Johnson paper.

Judge B S. Ford, Councilman for Thurston and Lewis counties, who has been quite ill for several months, is fast recovering his health.

There has been a week of rainy weather, quite discouraging to the farmers, as large quantities of wheat are yet ungathered; but to-day the sun shines bright, bringing gladness to the despondent, and future promise of bread and plenty.

A fellow, styling himself a reporter of the Portland Herald, has been running around loose for a few days. He can be caught and returned, if application is made soon. He is a well appearing young man, tall, dark hair, and very long whiskers, walks very erect when sober, and has the air of a Virginian. He is now in full enjoyment of and pleasure (treating his friends, particularly the editors of the local papers), after a season of arduous duties as a reporter on a Portland daily. Yesterday—imitating A. D. Richardson—he went to the beach to see

"The squaw's light birch canoe."

He surveyed the specimen with extreme delight. But his great ambition was to paddle the dug-out. In attempting to get into the craft his feet slipped and his hands refused their office, while his body gently glided into the water. A sympathizing crowd of bystanders rescued him from the water and being food for the little fishes. Starting again, and having secured a seat in the frail vessel, with an "old salt" for a guide, he set sail across the bay Now, he was determined to be good-humored, and in his endeavors to be so upset the canoe and spilt out the wrong passenger, which individual took a sudden dive into the water, but soon came up blowing like a porpoise. The old salt threw out a line, tied it fast to one leg of the "local," and took him into port. He came ashore wetter, more sober, if not wiser. His appearance was like that of a rooster after a thunder storm, and of the drooping shanghai order He is very great in drumming up subscribers for his pet paper Talks loud and treats often, two strong points for a local, and is undoubtedly a shining light in his sphere

Washington Territory has been the Gretna Green of this coast, but the last legislature ruined all the hopes of fond lovers who are fleeing from the face of cruel parents, and also to all who are of pure saxon blood A couple, one of whom had a red tinge of the forest in his veins, left this place for the congenial clime of British America to be united in bonds of wedlock, this week

We obtain the following from the Vancouver Register of Saturday

THE MINES.

We have no news from the mines except that Mr Beall is still engaged in sinking a shaft on the Columbia Lodge We do not know what depth he has reached A half ton of the rock from this ledge will be sent to San Francisco by the next steamer to be tested Lawrence and Co are running their arastra day and night, with good results as we are informed. We understand they expect to clean up $200 or more to-day the result of the week's work.

GONE ON A TOUR OF INSPECTION

Col. H. C Hodges, Chief Quartermaster, and Major F A Fisher, Chief Commissary, of the Department of the Columbia, left this place several weeks ago for the purpose of visiting Fort Boise and other posts in the interior We understand also that, Major Glenn, Paymaster has gone above on business connected with his branch of the service. These gentlemen are expected to return home about this time.

MR. 'S NEW MILL.

It is the intention of the owner of this mill to have it cutting lumber early in October next It is situated some fourteen or fifteen miles back from Vancouver and is conveniently accessible to an abundance of the best cedar, oak, and maple, all of which kinds of lumber it is the owner's intention to manufacture into lumber, in quality and quantity commensurate with the wants of the market

A FIRE ENGINE.

The ladies of Vancouver will give a calico dress ball at Metropolitan Hall on the 13th inst., for the purpose of aiding in the purchase of a fire engine. Of course it is understood that everybody will go or send his five dollars

Mr S. W Brown has terminated his engagement with the Vancouver Register as its editor In his valedictory article he says "We are not authorized at this moment to say that the Register will be continued, but believe that arrangements are partially made to that effect, and trust that it will, after a week or two's suspension for preliminary arrangements, necessary for a second year"

ANOTHER LOGAN.—William H Logan brother of the distinguished John A Logan and a member of the present House of Representatives of the Illinois Legislature, in which he was one of the most prominent and brilliant Democratic leaders has pronounced in favor of the constitutional amendment, in a cogent letter, characterized by sound sense and patriotism Logan is a younger brother of the General and possessed of many of his distinguished characteristics His influence will have a powerful effect on the right side of the coming campaign in Egypt

GLAD TO SEE IT.—The Gold Hill News has got enough of Andy. Speaking of the President passing through Baltimore, the News says

"Some of the rebel instigators of the Baltimore riot of April, 1861, may have cheered Andy There is an official propriety in the attendance of General Grant and Admiral Farragut but the association is really incongruous and is suggestive of extraordinary contrasts.

The Second Philadelphia Address.

The address of the Convention of Southern Unionists is before the country It is a most terrible indictment against Johnson As to its truth there cannot be two opinions among loyal men The malignancy of the Southern rebels and the tragic occurrences so frequently witnessed in all parts of the South, give abundant evidence that the picture the address presents is no exaggeration That Andrew Johnson is reponsible for the fearful state of things portrayed in this address, nobody doubts His political friends know it as well as others The language of the address is severe, because it is plain, direct, unequivocal and pregnant with the most terrible truths It is literally true that there is no security or protection at home for the loyal people of the South—those who adhered to the Government during the rebellion Let any one who professes to think that the address exaggerates the wrongs heaped upon the Southern Unionists, show, if he can, in what particular the picture is too highly colored. Little as the people of the North can know of the dreadful terrorism that prevails at the South, they know enough to convince them that its horrors are such as cannot be heightened by any description that words can give It is shamefully and sadly true that the Convention which puts forth this address could not have assembled in any of the States lately in armed rebellion Yet the time once was when it could have done so with perfect security That time was immediately after the overthrow of the rebel armies, when traitors were conscious of their guilt and dared not further offend. There are none who do not know the cause of the change from that state of things to what we now witness. If President Johnson has acted, and is now acting from honest motives, he has made a mistake fraught with consequences more frightful than ever before proceeded from unintentional error If his course is the result of premeditation, with a foreknowledge of the consequences, he is, morally considered, the greatest criminal of our times. But whatever may have been his intentions, his unassisted hand has wrought the work we see in the South and the loyal people of the nation will hold him fully responsible therefor

Needs Attention.

A good deal of complaint is made by those whose necessities require them to come to Portland via Oregon City, to the effect that the road for several miles both ways from the latter place is not sufficiently worked to render it easily passable, even at this season of the year The cause of this is understood to lie in the fact that the citizens of Oregon City do no road work except in the corporate limits of the city, and pay no taxes for road purposes except such as are expended within the same bounds The city charter of Oregon City, as we are informed, allows this exemption of its citizens from general road taxes, or what comes to the same thing, it gives the city Council power over the subject, with discretion to assess and collect road taxes, and to expend the money so collected solely within the city, if deemed proper Therefore, as we learn, the citizens of that place pay no per capita road tax, and no property tax for road purposes except as required by city ordinances. Long ago the streets of Oregon City were put in excellent and permanent repair, so the road taxes of her citizens are now very inconsiderable This is an injustice to the rest of the State and ought to be remedied at once. It is not at all fair to require nothing of Oregon City in the way of road work, but what she may be minded to do on her own streets, while Portland and other places are compelled not only to make their own streets, but to pay for the improvement of roads outside their limits. We learn that a petition has been circulated at Oregon City praying for an amendment of her charter in this regard However that may be, the matter is worthy of the attention of the Legislature, and we hope to see it inquired into and remedied.

Fenianism Reviving.

Eastern dispatches and correspondence make it apparent that the Fenians have not yet given up their warlike designs upon Canada Both wings, the one headed by Stephens and the other by Roberts and Sweeney, seem to be preparing forces and arms for another excursion over the border Whatever is doing is kept as secret as possible, but there are evidences of hostile intentions on the part of the Fenians, which are sufficient to create not a little trepidation among the Canadians It would not be surprising to learn very soon that a new invasion of Canada on a much grander scale than the first, has been attempted. The Provincial authorities have evidently taken the alarm, as they are hurrying troops forward to the border in anticipation of an attack It is deeply to be regretted that more of this sort of warfare is threatened We deeply sympathize with the Irish in the wrongs they endure in being forced to wear the yoke of England, and would like to see them adopt some practicable means of redress, if that were possible, but no beneficial results can accrue to Ireland from these chimerical projects. Our countrymen owe the Canadians no good will, for they cannot forget the conduct of these people in furnishing every possible aid to our enemies in our misfortunes But every person who looks at the matter dispassionately ought to see that Irishmen can accomplish nothing for the object nearest their hearts by this desultory and illegitimate warfare We heartily wish Ireland were free In the mutations of things she may one day be so, but for the present she must bide her time

In a late speech in Pennsylvania, Montgomery Blair declared that a "Radical" victory this fall would result in civil war The Northern Democracy and Southern rebels wouldn't submit to the verdict at the ballot-box, but would unite in getting up an opposition Congress, thus bringing on hostilities The loyal public have reason to thank Blair for his candor

At several places in his tour his Excellency, A Johnson, has manifested quite an inclination to blubber Very natural for him the cause of his emotion is easily discoverable, for doesn't Young say

> Some hearts, in secret hard, unapt to melt,
> Struck by the magic of the public eye,
> Like Moses smitten rock, gush out amain

A Louisville dispatch says it is agreed among all parties in that city to support General Rousseau for re-election to Congress He earned the admiration of the rebs and chivs by resorting on the late occasion to the mode of argument used by Preston S Brooks hence they all go for him now

The Copperheads call Union men who insist on making treason odious "howlers for blood" Precisely, what you all said when Union men determined to put down the rebellion But just what you did not like to have said about you when you howled for the blood of old John Brown

STATE ITEMS

A little boy at the Dalles had his collar bone fractured last week by the [illegible]

Our [illegible] are [illegible] Senators Williams and Nesmith and Congressman Henderson for [illegible] public documents

A letter from Salem informs us that the prominent Union candidates for speaker of the House are Upton of Multnomah and Chenoweth of Benton

Col Cornelius of Washington and Hon W C Johnson of Clackamas are said to be the principal candidates talked of for President of the Senate

The O S N Co are now running a daily line of boats from Celilo to Umatilla and Wallula The large amount of freight now going up the river renders this necessary

Brown the man charged with drowning Wright on board the road boat [illegible] a few weeks since had an examination at the Dalles a few days ago and was discharged

One of the escaped convicts a half breed named [illegible] known to our former [illegible] was captured on the road between Salem and Aurora on Thursday last He had but three months to serve and will apply himself in working out his contract

We learn from Salem that Secretary May has received a dispatch stating that the bill regulating the election of United States Senators is a law The election of Senator by the Oregon Legislature will therefore take place on Tuesday the 18th inst

FROM MONTANA

We extract the following from the Helena Republican of the 21st ult

INDIANS

The Indians for a distance of four hundred miles beyond the Big Horn and as far as the South Cheyenne, are very troublesome. They are bent on pillering and do not generally kill if they can obtain their booty without Between two and three weeks ago they took eighty government mules from Col Carrington while the latter was camped at Little Piney with some troops The news of the killing of French Lewis and his eight companions at Tongue river is fully confirmed by recent arrivals

ROAD TO MONTANA

Major Cullen who arrived this spring from Minnesota, informs us that it is the intention of the Minnesota Stage Company to put on a northern line of coaches from Minnesota to Montana, as early as the 1st of April of next year The cars are now running to St Cloud, seventy five miles above St Paul and a line of stages run west from the former point, a distance of three hundred miles, to Fort Abercrombie. We already have stages running to Fort Benton so that the only new line to be opened would be from the latter place to Abercrombie, a distance of not over seven hundred miles It is proposed to place stations upon this route at the distance of ten miles apart and this may be easily done not only because wood water and grass are plentiful at all points but because General Grant has promised full protection to the road It is thought that the distance from Helena to St. Cloud can be made in eleven days and through to New York in just two weeks Many of the stages of the Minnesota Company have been thrown out of employment by the introduction of railroads and we believe that they can find no better opening for the display of their enterprise, than that of which they propose to take advantage

FROM IDAHO

The following is from the Boise City Statesman of September 1st.

THE ELECTION IN ONEIDA

Kirkpatrick has 23 majority in Oneida county, and the whole People's ticket is elected by an average majority of about 40 The people of that county are evidently not on very good terms with the Boy's party

DISTRICT COURT

Judge Cummins adjourned the District Court last Thursday for two weeks from next Monday, September 17th, at which time a general Grand Jury will be called to examine the cases of prisoners in confinement or upon recognizance A large amount of business has been disposed of during the term and the calendar nearly cleared The very creditable and business-like manner with which Judge Cummins presides and conducts the business of his court is subject of general remark and matter of pride and satisfaction to his friends

ROBBERY

A couple of soldiers were arrested last Wednesday at Fort Boise for robbing a lady of $250 in currency and about $30 in dust Captain Eckerson turned them over to the civil authorities for examination and they were committed to appear at the District Court. A small amount of greenbacks and the dust was found on their persons when arrested Yesterday morning the block heads gave up to the Sheriff and accounted for the balance of the money One of the men had the greenbacks secreted in the soles of his boot

REBEL PIRATE IN BAD LUCK —We learn from the St Paul Press of the 3d, that on the 19th of July, 1859, the rebel pirate John Newland Maffit loaned to General W G LeDuc, of Hastings, Minnesota, the sum of $5,100, taking as security therefor a mortgage on lot 1, block 56, in the city of St. Paul, being the grounds upon which the various operations of the Press establishment are carried on The mortgage has been running since that time, and a few months ago information of its still being in rebel hands was given by James M Smith, Jr, to the United States Attorney The necessary proceedings were at once initiated and at the late term of the U S District Court at Winona, the matter was investigated before Judge Nelson, when sufficient proof was furnished to establish the fact that Maffit had been a rebel in arms against the Government, a decree of confiscation under the statute was entered, and a writ issued to the Marshal, which, after due notice was executed on the 1st But little interest was manifested in the sale and but few bidders were upon the ground. Before offering the confiscated effects for sale the Marshal read a notice from Charles Etheredge, claiming to be agent for the holder of a tax title for the property in question, under the law of 1862 This notice seemed to have an unfavorable effect upon investors, and but two bidders entered the field Mr E Coggeshall made the first bid of $1 000, which was quickly raised by United States District Attorney Moss to $2,500 A few more bids of $100 each soon brought the total up to $3,000, at which figure it was knocked down to Mr Coggeshall Considering that the face of the mortgage is $5,100, and that the property is worth double the amount of the mortgage, this must certainly be considered a very cheap purchase The sale was absolute Gen LeDuc was present, but did not make a bid.

FREEDMEN'S BUREAU REPORT FOR GEORGIA —Gen Davis Wilson, Assistant Commissioner of Freedmen's Affairs, has rendered his report of the operations of the Bureau in the State of Georgia since his assignment to duty therein, in which he says that since the enactment of laws by the State guaranteeing to the freedmen all the rights of person and property enjoyed by white persons, the Bureau has labored persistently to restore the supremacy of civil law and its enforcement in such a manner as to protect all classes of citizens irrespective of color or condition It was not expected that this effort would be followed by immediate success, but enough has been accomplished to render the future hopeful. Still, there are many instances where, through the prejudice of the people or the incompetency of the magistrates, the freedmen are denied the protection of the law, and where the interference of the Bureau is essential to procure justice The General says further that the planters depend upon the continuance of the Bureau to control labor and make it reliable and the freedmen to aid them in obtaining their wages Its removal now would be followed by doubt and uncertainty on the part of one and of distrust on the part of the other The most intelligent planters entertain this plan, and would regard the removal of the Bureau and its agent at the present time as a public misfortune

COLLEGE HONORS —Union College at its recent commencement conferred the degree of LL D on Secretary Seward, Professor Henry Coppee and George H Crook, Vice President of Rutgers' College The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Rev Henry J Fox, L W Bancroft, Benj Van Zandt and Philip Peltz At Williams' College the degree of D D was conferred on Rev Mason Noble of Williamstown, Rev Jonathan H Noble, of Schaghticook N Y, and Rev William Ellis, of England and that of LL D on Francis Gardner principal of the Boston Latin School Martin L Townsend of Troy N Y, and Jacob M Howard, of Detroit, United States Senator from Michigan

Will some one who may feel a concern in the matter have the kindness to tell the public why the Oregon Herald and Confederate Democrat are not as worthy of the support of the Union party as the Oregon Statesman? And while this informant is about it, will he explain wherein the last named journal differs as to its political principles, from its two co-laborers for "my policy," whose names are above given?

A 'bread and butter' organ says that everybody supports the President's policy except the extreme men of both sections—Northern abolitionists and Southern rebels Now we defy any Johnson organ in the United States, or all of them combined, to name a single Southern secessionist, rebel, bushwhacker or murderer who does not heartily support the liberal policy' of Andrew Johnson

Last year President Johnson assumed a virtue though he had it not" He ordered that no assessments should be made on office-holders for political purposes This year he gives office-holders to understand that an indorsement of his policy and generous contributions to support it are the conditions of their official tenure Times change and Presidents—some Presidents —change with them

Cholera—Money Matters

NEW YORK Sept 8 —Seven cases of cholera were reported in the city to day but none fatal

The Post's money article says gold is [illegible] at an advance. The loan market is easy. Commercial paper is offering more freely, but demand exceeds supply [illegible] the stock market was rather more active during the early part of the morning's business but closed [illegible] Government securities are quiet and quotations [illegible] sustained There is less pressure to sell and the small amounts offering are readily taken up

NEW YORK Sept 8 —The steamer Santiago De Cuba has arrived with San Francisco passengers via Nicaragua

During the week the disbursements on account of the War Navy and Interior departments are as follows War $2,418,370 Navy $[illegible] 527, Interior $603 160 total, $3 145 569

Our Consul at Liverpool writes to the State department that large quantities of rags are being exported from this country to the United States and it seems to be admitted at least in this country, that all the clothing etc from persons having the cholera, which became infected has been sold for such purpose and that there is great danger of spreading the disease by such clothing. There is not only the possibility but the probability that the infected rags are to be mixed with those that are now being sent and it would be well for the health authorities of different ports to look after these importations and when any doubt arises to take steps to have them disinfected

The local and foreign news is meagre to-night

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 9 —The British brig Ann Sanderson Capt Sanderson sailed from Yokohama Japan for San Francisco on the 7th of June, deeply laden shortly after her departure a sudden and most severe hurricane was experienced along the coast of Japan accompanied with frequent whirlwinds during which the brig is supposed to have foundered. The vessel and cargo were consigned to H W Brooks & Co of this city The Ann Sanderson being now 94 days out and no tidings having been received of her, the supposition that she is lost is doubtless correct She had two or three passengers on board and cargo is insured with China agents of British companies.

The total number of deaths in this city last week was only 49 Several attempts of incendiarism were made in different parts of the city last night but all were fortunately extinguished before much damage was done Weather cool and cloudy.

Parton, the biographer of Ben Franklin, taking as a text Jeff Davis' sneer at the great Yankee, as "the incarnation of the New England character—hard, calculating, angular unable to conceive any higher object than the accumulation of money," replies in the Ledger by proving abundantly that he was one of the most large-hearted and consistently generous men that ever lived kind to his relations, friendly to strangers and singularly free with his money for all good and noble purposes

Joseph Smith, the son of the founder of the Mormon Church, says that the Book of Mormon explicitly condemns and forbids polygamy which was not held as an article of faith until Brigham Young became the head of that part of the Church which went West with him

THE LEGISLATURE, at the coming session will doubtless pass a UNANIMOUS JOINT RESOLUTION endorsing the fact that KOHN & FISHER, at the ST LOUIS STORE, No. 111 Front street, furnish the BEST STYLES and QUALITY OF CLOTHING, BOOTS & SHOES at LOWER RATES, than can possibly be found at any other establishment of the kind in the State. They are CONSTANTLY RECEIVING INVOICES by every steamer DIRECTLY FROM THE EAST, so that their stock is always complete. It is to everybody's interest to call on them BEFORE PURCHASING ELSEWHERE

AN EVENTFUL DAY—DESTRUCTIVE FIRES.—Saturday last was rather of an eventful day in this city. We can [illegible] when we have seen a day in Oregon so windy and dusty as it was, at the present or any other season of the year. The wind blew so fresh and the dust was so dense that people found difficulty in pursuing their usual avocations, and ladies who had calls to make, or shopping to do, preferred staying at home. When such things as these occur from such causes it may be pretty generally calculated that the weather is not altogether of the usual order. From early morning until evening this continued. For several days an immense fire had been raging in the woods back of East Portland and probably this had something to do with giving the air currents a circular order of action raising the winds to such a degree. They did not appear to have any [illegible] but whirling the dust and smoke around the very four winds of heaven, coming from all the cardinal points of the compass at the same time. Along about three o'clock in the afternoon an alarm of fire was given, which brought out, as previously arranged, the steamer of No. 2, and Columbian Engine No. 3, which were conveyed to East Portland by the ferry boat No 1 and put to work for the purpose of preserving the residences of two or three families who were living rather close to the line of the fire in its onward course to the river bluff. Already about 150 cords of wood had been destroyed and probably a thousand or fifteen hundred cords more were in danger of being burned up. The wind by this time had changed about and its course was rather steady from the S. S. E. After performing the work laid out for them, very effectually, the engines returned to their houses at 6 o'clock. From that hour the wind lulled.

[illegible] OF THE NORTH PORTLAND STEAM SAW MILL.

At fifteen minutes past ten o'clock in the evening another alarm of fire was sounded which gave unmistakable evidence to every fireman and citizen that something more than common in the order of fires in our city was the cause of the alarm. The entire department were out in a most incredible short space of time and were guided in the direction of the lower part of the city by flames which lighted up the horizon for miles around and proceeded from the extensive steam saw mill of Messrs Harlow & Stittel. The hand engine of Multnomah No. 2 and the engine of Willamette No 1 as well as the steamer of Multnomah No. 2, were put at work on the wharf of the Portland Gas Light Company and the engine of Columbian No. 3, was stationed above near the Willamette Iron Works, while Protection No. 4 took suction below the fire, at Bruce's ship yard. Vigilance Hook and Ladder C[illegible] were appointed a place on the west of the scene of the disaster and thus stationed, both firemen and citizens worked heroically, but all their efforts to save anything while were useless, so rapidly did the flames spread, and by midnight it was evident that the only good [illegible] achieved was that of preventing the fire from extending in the vicinity. The scene almost baffles description. The livid flames leaped and dashed roaring like a tempest firing the frames and timbers and piles of lumber like serpents, leaving in their wake nothing but terror and clouds of smoke rendering the midnight air perfect desolation. All around and about the mill were heavy banks of saw dust and shavings through which streams of fire penetrated as if seeking depths to hide itself underneath the more living tongues of the fearful and destroying element. Work by the engines was not suspended until noon yesterday and then but partially, the steamer continuing for twenty [illegible] hours. The mill, which was the largest in the State, together with the box manufactory, office, mess-house, etc. and many hundred thousands feet of fine dressed and undressed lumber, lay in a heaping, smoky and charred mass of ruins last evening. The total loss cannot fall far short of $90,000, and we regret to say there was no insurance on any of it. The books of the firm were preserved [illegible].

THE ORIGIN OF THE FIRE

Having visited East Portland during the afternoon, and seen the flying red hot coals, nearly half a mile high, with the wind in the direction of the mill, we first traced the origin of the fire to that source, but since the [illegible] has been presented in a different form both [illegible] be known as to the real cause. The watchman, Mr. James Wi[illegible], a man who has been in the employ of Messrs. H[illegible] & Stittel for years and enjoys their perfect confidence, had just finished wheeling out the [illegible], refuse bark, etc, made on Saturday, and had [illegible] the gas house for a drink of water where he remained [illegible] fifteen minutes. When he was about [illegible] the mill was ablaze all over having taken fire on the inside [illegible]. The circumstances combine to lead to the supposition that the fire was set, and that they [illegible] had used some combustible material to [illegible] the work. From the opinions of those who first [illegible] it would appear that the torch was applied in several different places. It was almost instantaneous in its effect, and the occupants of the mess-house and [illegible] rooms, had barely time to escape with their lives. Mr M. Hunter, keeper of the mess-house, and his wife, [illegible], Mrs. Hardy, and Miss Bertha Wo[illegible], lost all they [illegible] even to their every day [illegible]. Mr Melcher Hunter, son, saved only the [illegible] upon his person. Mr John Hoover [illegible] escaped through a second story window of [illegible] room with what clothing he had on but [illegible]. Mr Charles Drake, another employe, saved the principal portion of his effects. Mr. [illegible] for the night, and his escape was [illegible] his garments out at the window and [illegible] them. Dressing afterwards he found that he [illegible] sufficient left to cover his person, with the [illegible]. Mr Alfred S. [illegible] was on his [illegible] when the fire was first discovered, and [illegible], saved the principal portion of his effects. Mr [illegible] was sleeping in the room on the first [illegible], had escaped with the most of his clothing. Mr [illegible] at his residence, and Mr Stittel had left [illegible] day for Salem.

WORK OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The fire was the most extensive and destructive of any [illegible] in Portland, and the work of the [illegible], taken as a whole showed most [illegible] able to do. The hand machines were kept constantly employed during the entire long siege—lasting from past ten o clock until past five in the morning. [illegible] two hours there were frequent changes on [illegible] by volunteers who stepped forward at soliciting, [illegible] done all they could, but after that time volunteers were not so numerous to relieve the regular firemen [illegible] morning it was hard indeed to get [illegible]. At two o'clock a. m. a general alarm was [illegible] the bells of the city, which brought about [illegible] of fresh men to the scene of the conflagration [illegible] there was firemen who had become worked [illegible] left. And again, an hour or two later, another alarm was given, but not with so good an effect. To the credit of No. 2 we will say she had the honor of throwing the first stream upon the fire from her hand engine—[illegible] tub—followed in less than three minutes by two streams from the machine of No 1. It would be unfair to speak of the efforts of any one particular company. No. 2 did most effective service, and the boys of No. 1 showed their persevering metal and won laurels [illegible], being alone below the heat of the disaster, and [illegible] was No. 3, where recruits were not so readily picked up. The Hook and Ladder Company did all that could be asked of them, with a hearty determination. As regards the steamer of Multnomah Company, it must be [illegible] by every fireman laying envy aside, that she did [illegible] and payed for herself at this fire. After she got at work she put three streams upon the fire, and they were heavy ones, too, which was kept up for nearly [illegible] hours without intermission. The capacity of the [illegible] for throwing water was rather illustrated by one of No 1's boys. After the engine had played for over four hours, and the fire had been [illegible] checked from spreading, it was deemed [illegible] suction pipe, and with this object two [illegible] of the Company [illegible] to the bottom of the river, waist deep, for the purpose of securing the suction in such a manner as to prevent its being buried in the mud. When down there one of the boys exclaimed "By Heavens, boys, we are pumping the river out! The water is eight inches less than when we began!" The remark caused a laugh, as our friend had not, evidently, [illegible] that the tide was ebbing. It was a [illegible] remark, though, and to say the least was worthy of [illegible] to matters relating to the subject of furnishing [illegible] in the city. We dare say there is not a cistern in the city which will give any two machines—[illegible] water for one hour.

GYPSUM.—Mr A. P. Hardy has left at our office specimens of gypsum, which is found in immense quantities a short distance from the old emigrant road, on Burnt river, in a place so situated that a wagon can be filled in a very few [illegible] by two or three men. This discovery must be of some value to the country. The uses of gypsum are [illegible], and a bed of it such as Mr Hardy assures us is in existence there, must be very valuable. The principal use of gypsum is for the making of plaster [illegible] casts and for stucco. In Spain and France it is used [illegible] floors and vaults. It is used to some extent in glazing porcelain. The principal consumption however is as a fertilizer to soils. Immense gypsum beds are found in the western counties of New York, west of the Erie Canal, but none have ever been found equal to the bed described by Mr. Hardy. Between Auburn and Syracuse from 40,000 to 50,000 tons [illegible] in the excavation for a railroad but here [illegible] of double that amount would be [illegible] by to [illegible] a wagon road through the bed. We have no doubt that the Burnt river gypsum beds will eventually be a source of great wealth to parties who may attempt the erection of mills there to grind the native material for the use of farms. It can be transported to any point on the Columbia river, at very reasonable rates, and once there it will be easy to get it to Portland, hence we may soon see Oregon supplying the agriculturists of [illegible] with a fertilizer.

Since the above was placed in type, Frank Cooper of [illegible], has shown us the model of a similar invention, which he has recently purchased the patent right to sell in Oregon, Washington Territory and California. This latter invention we should say having examined it, excels that of the Paris blacksmith and it was thought of by Mr Christian Weitman, of the State of Iowa. By this method any person who can fit a shoe can place it upon the foot of the horse. It can be taken off at pleasure, and in this respect will be worthy as there is no [illegible] to remain until worn out, or in putting a tired dray horse to bed with his shoes on, than there would be in having the driver served in the same way. The shoe invented by Mr Weitman is fastened to the foot by two [illegible] on [illegible] sides, regulated by a screw on the outer side. Under the hoof, between the shoe and the foot, is a layer of rubber, which renders the foot easy [illegible] does not prevent the natural expansion of the hoof. We look upon the Paris blacksmith and especially upon Mr Weitman, as public benefactors. There is no more faithful servant to mankind than the horse and perhaps none have ever received less attention to such important matters, and these inventions should meet with favor, and if possible be improved.

HORSE SHOEING.—A Paris blacksmith has invented a new system of shoeing horses, which is meeting with [illegible] favor in the East. Instead of the shoe being placed on the hoof and burning its own resting place, the outside of the hoof is cut away round the foot to about the depth of half an inch; this leaves a ledge into which the shoe fits, and is then flush with the frog which just touches the ground, and the whole foot rests on the ground instead of being raised as of old by the shoe. The advantages claimed are, that the foot is little pared, that instead of a great heavy shoe the animal is shod in what are little more than racing plates, that the horse never slips, that the shoe allows the foot to expand naturally, and that it lasts as long and is as cheap as the old plan.

[illegible] OF THE GOVERNOR.—His Excellency Gov. A. C. Gibbs has been closely confined for some time by sickness, but has so far recovered, we are pleased to learn, as to be able to make the venture to start for Salem today.

ARRIVED.—The steamship Orizaba of the California Steam Navigation Company, Capt. Metzger Commander, left San Francisco September [illegible]th at 4.30 P. M. On the 7th had strong north westerly wind, and heavy sea. Put into Port Orford at 3 30 P. M. and left the 8th at [illegible] A. M. Crossed Columbia river bar on the 9th at 15 A. BODY RECOVERED.—A body supposed to be that of Richard Stewart, a passenger lost overboard from the steamer Wilson G Hunt on the 30th ult. was found in the Columbia river opposite St. Helens on Wednesday last. The remains were taken on shore and after an inquest were decently buried. Money and [illegible] to the amount of about $50 was found upon the person of deceased. The verdict of the jury was that the body was that of a man unknown to them, who had met his death by drowning.

MISQUOTED.—One of our farmer readers, who says he don't take the paper so much for its politics as for the market reports—says we have been rather remiss in our duty to [illegible] as he by quoting hay $24@$25 a ton for a long time when it should be $14@$15. With all due deference we deny the accusation in toto. Hay is selling in Portland at the figures we quote, and we have not given $24@$25 ℔ ton as the prices for many weeks. Look again.

"INTELLIGENCE."—The Alta makes up a batch of news from Oregon occasionally. The following are fair specimens of the Oregon news in that paper of September 1st. "The value of all land outside the city of Portland is put down at $577 430." "The property of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company is assessed at $128 600!"

EXPLAINED.—In our midnight perigrinations out Washington street, in the direction of home, we have often wondered why the lamp near the Presbyterian Church was not lighted. On Saturday night, or rather very early yesterday morning, we found out why—which lies in the fact that two sides of the glass is missing. Whose business is that?

[illegible].—We learn by [illegible] arriving by stage from Salem last evening, that an affray occurred at Champoeg on Saturday during which one man was killed. S. T.—1860—X

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c. deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in Bulk is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c. is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer: 'Tis an easy task.
Strengthen the STOMACH, and sustain
The NERVES, the servants of the brain.
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate from day to day,
Each organ aid, on nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation either of the past or the present time has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever taint the heavy air.
Drink not unpurified the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist — due—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine's grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note,
They are THE SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To act in defiance of the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be fore armed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.
Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysentric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills,
Dread diarrhoea that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury,
Slow constitutional decay,
That brings Death nearer day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb!
For these—though mineral nostrums fall—
Means of Relief at least we hail,
Hostetter's Bitters—medicine sure
Not to palliate alone but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea-sickness, spasms and in all complaints of Man or Woman proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS
To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners California bound,
And tillers of wet marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mould,
To young and middle aged and old,
To those in health who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy,
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we present
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS
Sold by respectable druggists in all parts of the world.

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS 625 AND 621 FRONT ST
HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities, CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.
The undersigned who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

Vespers and Matins.

Now fold away thy raiment,
My little maiden fair,
And parting from thy forehead
The curls of yellow hair;
I'll tie the white cap closely
Round the pearly cheek and chin.
Old prints of German masters,
I've seen such pictures in.

Now clasp thy hands together,
My little maiden mild,
And ask the great All-Father
To bless his little child;
And on thy home a blessing—
Now all the world to thee—
And this, thy world's cathedral,
Besides thy mother's knees.

Now turn the white sheet over—
Lay thy white limbs to rest—
While I fold the fringed cover
Up tightly o'er thy breast.
No silken curtains round thee
Shut out the falling night,
The starlight through the elm trees,
Nor morning's blessed light.

There is a robin cometh,
At breaking of the day,
And sings his morning anthem,
Swinging that leafy spray;
So, hushed by love at evening,
And waked at morn by praise,
A golden ring encloseth,
The circle of thy days.

The New Orleans Riot—The Fight at Mechanics' Institute.

Out of the Senate Chamber, once more in the cross passage, pass through the hall; here is the last step of the main stairway. Blood is on it. The white wall is smeared with blood in the track of what had been a live man's shoulder leaning up against it. Blood on the next step. Blood-marks higher up on the walls, blood and marks of a sanguinary struggle from top to bottom. Bullet-holes are evident also on the wall; occasionally a bullet-hole is seen in the steps. Here we are at the top of the stair-landing, and here is the lobby that opens into the Hall of Representatives. On the right is the office of the Quartermaster-General; the door has been wrenched and broken open, but the office is undisturbed. On the left is the office of the Sergeant-at-arms of the House. The door is still shut, but the lower panels have been broken through; the pieces still lie as when they fell. Blood-marks are all over the matting. Going to the window of the second story, bullet-dents are evident in the masonry. A bullet-hole may be seen now and then in the walls. Facing the double doors which—one on right and left of passage—lead into the Hall of Representatives, a pile of chairs with which the men barricaded themselves is seen. They have been pushed or battered down, and now lie in huge pyramids on each side. The hats, the shoes of the occupants are strewn about the matting on the floor. Negro workmen had brought here their tin buckets. In one or two of them is still seen the luncheon. On the zinc that underlies the foot of the stove on the left, is seen marks of blood—a pool of blood where some men had lain. Chairs, simply the body of them, with the legs broken off, are lying all around this portion outside the bar. A barricade of chairs is lying turned over from the window on the right. Many of these chairs are also broken, with the seeming purpose to use their legs for clubs. Many of the legs are blood-stained, showing they had been put to this use. Enter the bar, and much the same appearance, presents itself here, except near the windows there are so blood-marks, and it was within this space, cleared of chairs for barricades or for weapons, that the mass were huddled like sheep.

The line of windows on either side are broken; either by shots from without or shots from within; the difference may be told by the fracture of the glass. The furniture of the whole interior is a wreck. The desks on the Secretary's stand are rifled and contents strewn around. Lying near the last window on the left side are near twenty balustrades, which were evidently used as clubs. Legs of chairs are strewn around thick as autumn falling leaves. Ascending the stairs to the Speaker's stand, immediately in front of the steps that lead to the ante-room on the right side, part of the flooring has been uptorn, probably by some scared occupant, to hide.

The door of the ante-room was hammered and beaten, and was finally crushed in, as the broken lock, parted from its bed of wood, shows. This ante-room contains a safe, where some of the white men reclined, while the negroes were deserted to bear the brunt of their crimes. The legs of the Speaker's chair have been wrenched from their sockets. Legs of desks have been torn asunder, and the desks unturned, their contents strewn around and loosely carpeting the floor. A door opens onward on the stairway leading down into the vaults. The first thing noticed is a bloody hand-mark; blood spots line the white walls on the side, and blood spots the steps.—New Orleans Times Aug. 4th.

Secession Doctrine from Seward.—The Sacramento Union, speaking of the Johnson demonstration at New York, thus comments upon Seward's remarks at the Delmonico's table:

"The speech of Seward, if it was the honest utterance of his present conviction, shows how completely the Confederates, through the somewhat forcible arguments of Payne, have subdued the man who was once the foremost champion of the 'irrepressible conflict.' Hear him: 'In the city and State of New York, the people should be faithful, first to their wives, then to their children, then to their city and State, and then to their country.' This was considered secession doctrine when it flowed from the lips of William L. Yancey and the Rhett school of politicians. It was the fundamental idea of the Confederate creed. It led men into rebellion who were opposed to a dissolution of the Union and to civil war. To vindicate it, hundreds of thousands of misguided Southerners fought, bled and died, and brought desolation upon the fairest fields in their section of the Union. To suppress it, and to establish the national principle, vital to the Union, that the citizen's first political duty is due, not to any municipal or State organization, but to the Government of the United States, other hundreds of thousands of the bravest sons of the North risked their lives on the battle-field and endured the horrors of rebel prison-pens, while the nation at large incurred a vast debt that will burden industry for at least a generation. Is this pernicious, provincial, anarchical doctrine—the lever of the astute secessionists, the destroyer of so many men of honest heart but narrow mind, the bitter fountain of so many sorrows—any more tolerable in a speech from William H. Seward than it was when stated by Yancey, Ruffin or Rhett? What is the significance of its revival and reaffirmation by such a person, under such circumstances? Is the Secretary of State, like the President, so sorry for the course of action which brought upon him the vengeance of those who followed their States into a war against the General Government that he wishes to atone by taking up their torn creed, putting the pieces together and giving it the highest national sanction? If this be the case, there is no longer any mystery about the origin of that reconstruction policy which the Secretary's old friends have regarded as inexplicable. The explanation is ample and short: Seward is a secessionist.

Beautiful Sentiment.—A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes to the editor of that journal as follows:

In the summer of 1862 I was in "famous Dublin town" for a few days, and among other places of interest paid a visit to the cemetery, with the special errand of looking at the tomb of "the great agitator," Daniel O'Connell. It was an humble tomb, on the side of a knoll, and enclosed with an iron door. As I stood looking at the quiet grave of the great Irishman, I saw close by an humble mound, at the head of which was a plain marble slab, with this inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Thomas Steele." I remembered Tom Steele. He loved his country and died a martyr to liberty. It was the grave of a Protestant in a Catholic cemetery. Turning to the old man who was showing me through the grounds, I asked, "Was not Tom Steele a 'heretic'?" "Faith he was," was the reply. "And is not this consecrated ground?" said I. "Sure it is consecrated ground," said the old man. "And was not Daniel O'Connell a good and faithful son of the holy mother church?" "In faith he was," was his answer. "Then," I continued, with an air of mock surprise, "why do you let Tom Steele lie in these grounds, and right beside Daniel O'Connell?" An Irishman is never at a loss for an answer, and surely his reply was a noble one. "I will tell you how it is," said the sexton, "You see Tom Steele was for liberty, and Daniel O'Connell was for liberty; and liberty, you know, makes brothers of us all!" I took his Catholic hand in my Protestant hand, and shaking hands in the sacred fellowship of liberty, I repeated, "liberty makes brothers of us all!"

The admission of representatives from Tennessee will have little effect on the political complexion of Congress. In the Senate, David T. Patterson, son-in-law of Mr. Johnson, is of course among the President's supporters; his term expires in 1869. J. S. Fowler, whose term ends in 1871, is exactly of the opposite stripe. In the House the representatives elected as Unionists are Nathaniel E. Taylor. Horace, Maynard, William B. Stokes, S. M. Arnell, and Isaac R. Hawkins. The Democrats are Edmund Cooper, William B. Campbell and John W. Leftwich.

Horace B. Claflin, the New York merchant and rival of A. T. Stewart, returns the comfortable income for the year 1865 of $1,290,000, cents not counted, or $4,000 per day.

The Great Fires at the North—Anonymous Letters from the South.

The Portland Press publishes the following letters, which it says have been received in that city, the first by the Postmaster, the second by the Chief of the Relief Committee:

Louisville, Ky., July 8, 1866.

P. M., Portland, Maine.—Dear Sir.—Gen. Sherman, the Great Arson and Fire King, is once more abroad with his incendiary torches; every day we hear of a destructive fire in the North. As long as Sherman remained stationary at St. Louis and Chicago fires were principally confined to those places. Now that this great desolator is on his march North, we hear daily of fires either in his front or rear. Day before yesterday the town of Lawrenceburg, Indiana, was consumed by fire. Yesterday we heard of your town suffering from the fires of Heaven, and to-day another fire is reported in Pennsylvania; and I look for such reports daily, until the vengeance of the Almighty is appeased by the destruction of sevenfold the amount inflicted by the desolating march through the South by the 'Great Arson—fires in his front, fires in his rear, fires at his right, and fires at his left hand, is destined to be your fate at the North. The total destruction of New York city and Boston by fire would not equal the 60-mile wide tramp of Sherman through Georgia. I just call your attention to this matter in order that your curiosity may lead you to observe, etc.

Yours, JOHN SMITH.

Another writes "To the Chief of the Relief Committee, Portland, Maine," from Richmond, Virginia:

Richmond, July 9, 1866.

To the Chief of the Relief Committee, Portland, Maine;—Sir—Your city is quite destroyed by fire. Your people have my sympathy. I am a believer in retributive Providence, and He distinctly states "vengeance is mine." I am daily witnessing this expression being carried out with the different and various ways He has of applying it to the North, practically and generally. You, no doubt, will say that I am a fool and no prophet; nevertheless, deny not this expression: "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord." The North has overrun the South by numbers, destroyed her freehold, robbed her of her liberty and buried her best blood. Thousands upon thousands—white as well as black—are in a worse condition than your unfortunate people, and still no help, no sympathy are extended to them. "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord." From what is written a heading for a history of untold length could be written. Justice in every line; yes, in every word. "Vengeance is mine, saith the Lord," is my text; this embraces more or less the whole book of Christ. Now add the violation of our Constitution and the subjugation of the South by superior forces—arbitrary power being applied to a downtrodden race. Thus a proud and high-minded and Christian people still suffer by the hands of you and yours, our conquerors—Jeff. Davis, poor fellow, included.

This caution comes in a mysterious way; nevertheless I believe your sufferings are heaped upon your heads by Providence as a retribution for your past actions, and particularly your present unkind feelings toward your suffering countrymen.

Yours truly, A Rebel until Represented.

P. S.—This is written upon the best of rebel note paper—the best that could be made during the war. Keep it as a memento of a ruined man, as well as of a ruined country.

Washington Personals.—The Washington correspondent of the Hartford Press says the President is not over sanguine in regard to the result of the Fall election, but is fully determined to persevere in the course he has marked out. In regard to the next Presidency, the same correspondent says it does not seem probable that General Grant can decline the Union nomination:

"All talk about his agreement with the President's policy is Copperhead lying; there isn't a word of truth in it. General Grant agrees with General Logan, and with his most intimate of friends, Washburne, member from the Galena district, who is lying ill at the General's house. Washburne is a prominent Radical. Look at Grant's recent order. The President would put his foot on it if he dared. It would be open war between the two men were it not for Seward, who is a diplomat. Johnson is a man of coarse passions, and he would, if it was not for Seward, soon kill his cause by his imprudence. The 'sage of Auburn, knows better what should be done, and is very anxious to conciliate Grant and Stanton, so the coaxing process proceeds—with no effect upon the General, but with a marked effect upon Stanton, for he cannot fall back upon personal popularity as Grant can."

The Feeling in Virginia.—The Richmond Examiner, in commenting upon the hisses and groans given by the reconstructed rebels of Kentucky for Grant and Sherman, says:

Not only in Kentucky, but throughout the Union and the world, Grant and Sherman will decline in estimation, while President Johnson and General Lee will be recognized in all their purity, goodness and greatness.

At it Again.—For many years before the war, Parson Brownlow and Andrew Johnson, were caterwauling all the time. They stopped it at the commencement of the rebellion, but are at it again now, hammer and tongs. In a fair, stand-up blackguarding match, we think the Parson is a little the heavier, the one using nothing but "dead ducks" as offensive projectives, while the other flings "dead dogs" with appalling dexterity.—Flag.

The novelty in Paris, just now, is, "Grasshopper Pancake." Here is the recipe: Take an insect daintily with the thumb and finger of the left hand, (having first caught him of course) cut him in two with a penknife, and pour into his body six drops of rum, if he will hold so much. Let the whole number thus prepared soak in this liquor for two days, then make them into a paste and fry them like pancakes. To be eaten, with sugar en poudre and a little Burgundy wine.

Dr. J. C. Calhoun Blackburn, the surgeon who attempted to introduce small-pox into the North in infected clothing during the war, has written a letter in which he declares himself a "rebel in every acceptation of the term," laments his compulsory exile, and closes by saying, "If President Johnson be sustained, I expect to live, die and be buried in the United States."

Order Revoked.—The recent general order issued by Gen. Grant, requiring department commanders to forward copies of such newspapers within their respective commands as contained sentiments of disloyalty and hostility to the Government in any of its branches, with a view to their suppression, has been revoked.

Appointments for Dacotah.—The President has made the following appointments for the Territory of Dacotah: Governor, Andrew J. Faulk, of Pennsylvania, vice Edmunds; Associate Justice, John W. Boyle; Receiver in the Land Office, George Stickney.

Colorado Election.—The News of August 10th says that returns, received up to that date give Chilcott, the Union candidate for delegate 88 majority, and it is more than possible that he is elected instead of Hunt, the Administration candidate.

At a celebration of a marriage, a large number of young ladies present, the minister said: "Those wishing to be joined in the holy bonds of wedlock will please stand up," and nearly all the young ladies arose.

There are seven daily newspapers in Boston at present, and this is but half the number that city boasted many years ago. Philadelphia has eleven, and New York thirteen.

SOMETHING NEW!

THE NEW LIGHT!

DANFORD'S

Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT, IS A UNIversal necessity. A Safe, Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities where Gas is used. Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney, and without unpleasant odor while in use. That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance, the chimney, is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided; it is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps; it is the cheapest artificial light, that can be used, yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than one cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp, for one third the cost. It will burn when turned down to a taper-light, ten hours for a cent, is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out. These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufresne, corner of Morrison and First streets.

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step; his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself, and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER,
INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND
CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING, OR PAINFUL URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in those cases, and you will ever give praise to

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from poison absorbed into the system. Look at their pale, bloated and disfigured faces and their broken constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid state thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are afflicted with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important that those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians of Europe and other places. Be therefore cautious, make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse, solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noises like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will forfeit Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give every patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
